Heart Attack Fatal to Justice Murphy

Roosevelt Appointee Succumbs

Served For Nine Years

DETROIT — (AP) — Supreme Court Justice Frank Murphy died at 7:45 a. m. today.

Doctors at Henry Ford hospital said the 59-year-old jurist died of coronary occlusions, a heart affliction.

MURPHY

Murphy was appointed in 1940 to the Supreme Court by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt Prior to that, he had served one two-year term as governor of Michigan. He was defeated for re-election.

It was as governor of Michigan that Murphy first came into the national limelight. That was in the 1930's when the first big sit-down strikes occurred. He was vigorously attacked by some for not using force to oust the sit-downers from automobile plants. Among accusations hurled at him was that he was a "tool of communists."

Murphy said if the people of Michigan wanted their governor "to shoot the workers out of the factories and thus end sit-down strikes once and for all," they would have to get another governor to do it.

"If the American workingmen are wrong," he declared, "I believe they can be taught the right way without writing the lesson in blood." (He said later that he believed sitdown strikes were wrong.)

During the strike crisis President Franklin D. Roosevelt described him as "a profoundly religious, able and law-abiding governor."

DEFEAT HURT MURPHY

Governor Murphy was defeated for re-election. The defeat hurt him, for he felt he had done a good job in pioneering state reforms.

As mayor of Detroit at the depth of the economic depression of the early '30's Murphy asserted that a great business depression should be as much a federal government responsibility as an earthquake.

In one year he spent $14,000,000 to feed and house the city's jobless. To critics who accused him of extravagance, Murphy replied that he probably had saved Detroit from rioting and looting. Anyway, he said he had saved that much and probable more by economies. He was re-elected as mayor.

Soon after his defeat for re-election as governor, Murphy was appointed U. S. Attorney General by President Roosevelt. That was in 1939.

When President Roosevelt nominated him for the Supreme Court bench at the beginning of 1940, Murphy, with characteristic modesty, said he thought others were much better qualified. He became a member of the tribunal without ever arguing a case before it.

Born at Benton Harbor, Mich., April 30, 1890, Murphy was the son of a country lawyer.

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — An American - born Jamanese claimed today that he saw Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, known as "Tokyo Rose," commit eight treasonable acts against the United States.

Heat Wave On Its Way Out

The heat wave that hit Mansfield yesterday will soon be on its way out. Weatherman Milton Davis reported that the hot spell will be pushed out tonight by a cool air mass from the northwest.

School Budget Bulges

Hits High of $1,700,000

By ROBERT SCHWEITZ

It will cost almost a million and three quarters dollars to operate the Mansfield public school system next year. The annual budget approved by the board of education last night totals $1,742,015.

This figure is $143,876 above the total for this year.

In the general fund of $1,272,958 more than a million dollars, or 77 per cent of the total, was allocated for salaries of all employes.

Maintenance of the school plant is expected to cost $88,400 in 1950 as compared with $84,830 this year.

Two significant drops in expenses for the maintenance of the school system were an estimated $4,500 drop from $14,500 for repairs to school buildings and a $500 dip from $600 for replacement of equipment. Other expected drops were $1,000 for legal service and $3,450 for "on-the-job-training" teachers.

BIGGEST ITEM

Teachers' salaries, the one largest item, were listed at $825,000 for next year. The teaching staff got $779,028 this year. The total instruction bill is $980,480. This included teachers' salaries, textbooks, new educational supplies and replacements and repairs to present educational equipment. This year's total was $951,778.

Total administration salaries will run $22,410 in comparison with the 1949 figure of $22,900. Highest paid will be Superintendent W. L. Miller, whose salary was raised by the board last night to $8,250 annually from $7,000. The raise is effective Aug. 1.

Estimated receipts of the schol board for 1950 based on a county property valuation of $80,000,000 is $1,272,958 from taxes. Added to this general fund figure will be $335,991 from interest on bonds. The total receipts then will be $1,608,949. John Eisaman, school board clerk, said anticipated high returns from the personal property tax are expected to bring the receipts up to a figure equaling expenditures anticipated in the budget.

Commission Backs Ouster

Dismissal of former police patrolman Roger C. Zimmerman for allegedly attempting to conceal information on a hit-skip automobile accident was upheld last night by the Mansfield civil service commission.

Within a few hours after being notified of the decision, Robert Lett, attorney for Zimmerman, reported "an appeal will be filed immediately in common pleas court."

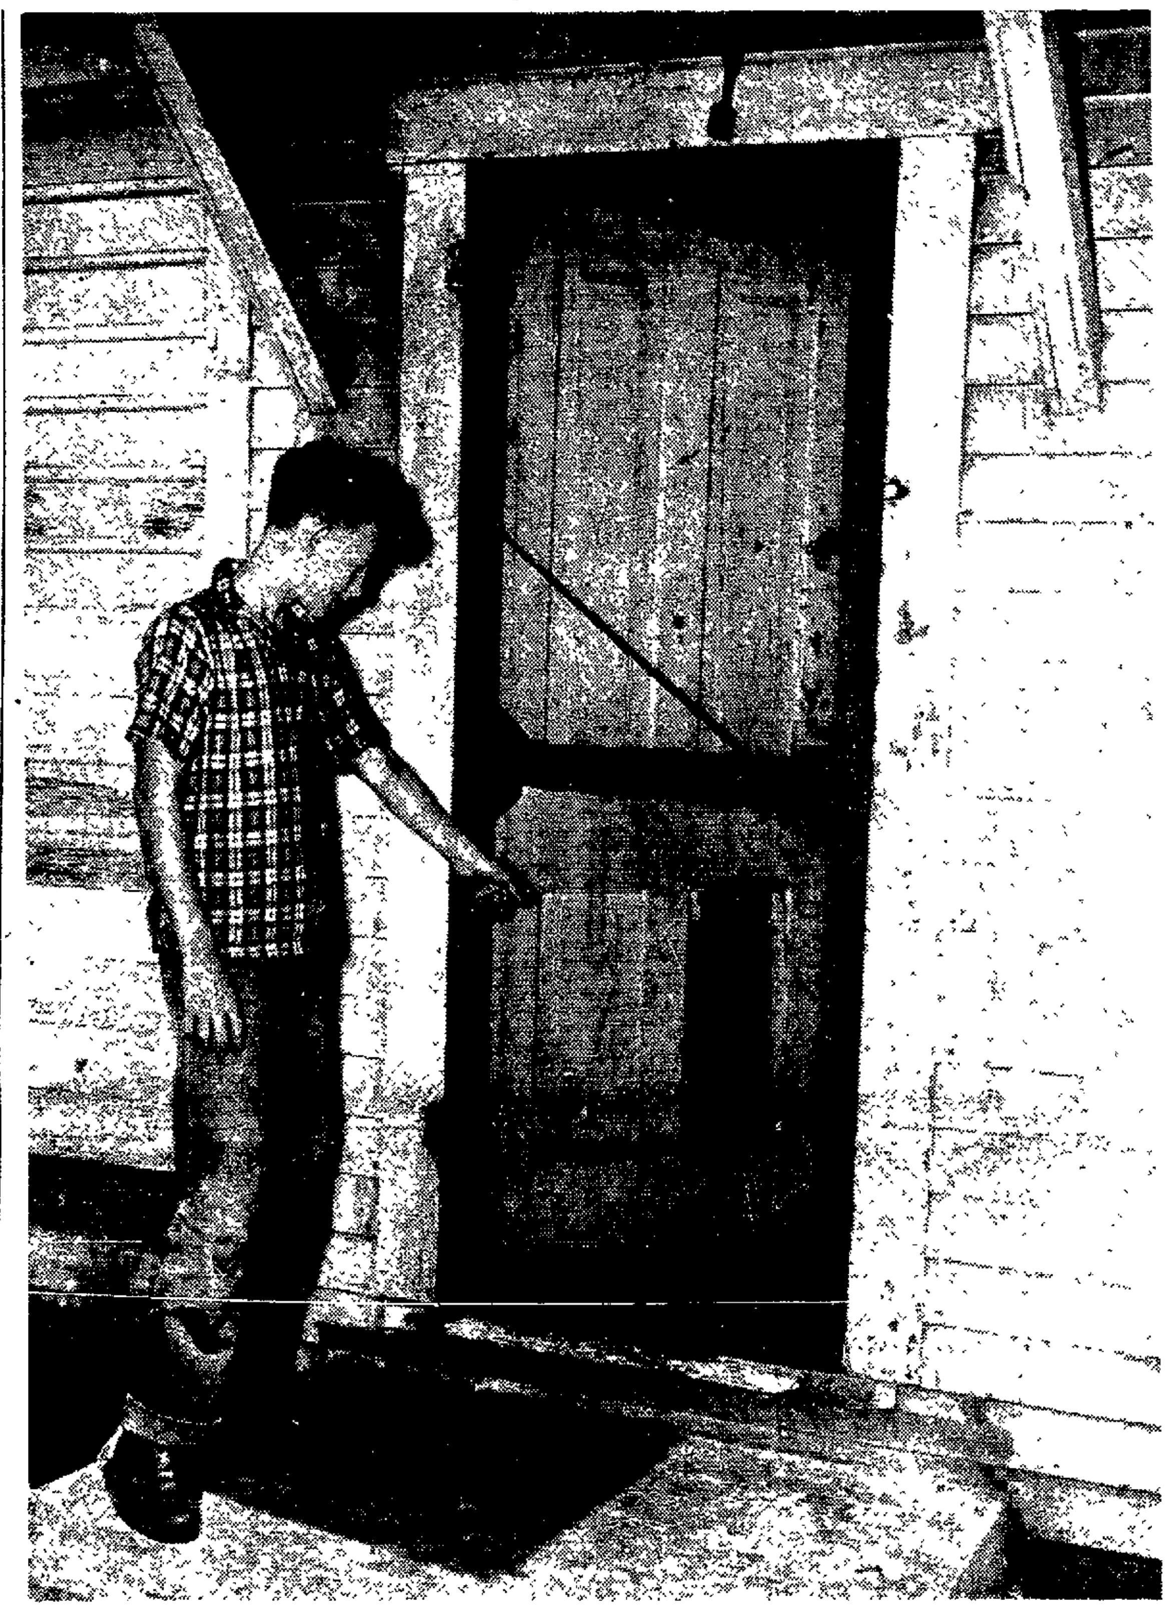
In a letter to the 26-year-old former patrolman, the three commission members stated they were unable to find any evidence in the testimony of two previous hearings to justify a reversal or modification of the dismissal order.

The first hearing was held by Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab and the next by Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison.

The dismissal resulted after Luther Walker, 32, of Amoy, testified Zimmerman had advised him to "forget" a hit-skip accident in which six-year-old Marcia McNaul was injured on May 20. Walker, who was involved in the accident, failed to report the matter, but was taken into custody by police four days later.

Shortly after Walker's court case, Police Chief Schwab suspended Zimmerman. Zimmerman denied he knew Walker was involved in the accident.

Members of the city's civil service commission are Thomas A. Woodard, chairman, C. W. Marks and R. E. Sneeringer.



FRANCES WAS HURT HERE—The blasted-out paneling in the front door, caused when a shotgun discharged yesterday and seriously injured nine-year-old Frances Prosser, 734 Burger avenue, is pointed out by Don Gregg of Belmont avenue. Gun Victim's Condition Still Serious

Doctors Attempting To Save Child's Leg

Little Frances Prosser lay in General hospital today unaware that doctors were fighting to save her right leg from amputation.

The nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Prosser, 734 Burger avenue, was severely wounded in the right thigh shortly after noon yesterday when a 12-gauge shotgun accidentally discharged.

The gun was held by her sister, Lora May Prosser, 11. Lora May was taking the weapon in the house after it had been discovered in a closet by younger children.

The gun discharged when it bumped against the door jamb. Frances Prosser was reported standing about two feet inside the door at the time. The gun's blast ripped out the paneling of the front door and struck the the child. She was immediately rushed to General hospital where her condition was reported "critical."

The four smaller children, who were playing on the front porch at the time of the accident, were not injured.

The family physician said today that Frances is showing improvement. He added that everything possible is being done to save the child's leg.

The injured girl is a pupil at Roseland school. Her father is employed at the National Ice company.

Bell said the union's contract at the Ohio Seamless Tube company in Shelby was extended one month yesterday. New expiration date of the contract in Shelby is Oct. 15, one month back of the expiration date of contracts in Big Steel.

Negotiations at the Shelby firm will include the contract provisions for general and uniform wage increases and the pension - insurance program.

Bodies of 8,000 Ohio War Dead Brought Back

76 Returned To County For Final Rites

Bodies of 76 Richland countians, who died overseas in World War II, have been returned home for final burial. The total for the entire state of Ohio now stands at nearly 8,000.

Also included in the total figure are 183 soldiers from neighboring counties, Ashland, Crawford, Holmes, Huron and Knox.

As the task of repatriation nears its close, the Army announced today that only about 10,000 of the definitely identified whose relatives wish them brought back are still awaiting shipment.

In the two years since the program began more than 150,000 bodies have been brought back for final burial. More than 20,000 Ohioans died in World War II. About 827,000 Ohioans served in the nation's armed forces during the war.

In addition to the repatriation project, the Army has been bringing bodies from farflung battlefields for interment in permanent American military cemeteries overseas.

The program itself has been called the greatest undertaking of its kind in history and is estimated to have cost up to now about $170,000,000. No other country which took part in the last war pledged itself on as large a scale as did the United States to abide by the decision of next of kin as to final burial of their dead. The program, assigned to the Army quartermaster department, is expected to be finished by Dec. 31, 1951.

Number of dead repatriated by neighboring counties includes: Ashland, 36; Crawford, 26; Holmes, 16; Huron, 68; and Knox, 37.

Salvation Army Aid Requested

In another effort to secure a juvenile detention home so that children will not have to be held in jail, Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer has asked the Salvation Army to consider again setting up detention quarters at the citadel.

Judge Cramer, a Republican, has, without success, attempted to persuade the Democratic-controlled board of county commissioners to provide a detention home.

The county has been without a detention home since Jan. 1. That was the date set by the Salvation Army for vacating the home there. Notice was given to the county commissioners more than a year ago.

Guy F. Stewart, chairman of the county commissioners said last Wednesday that the commissioners were not going to provide a detention home because of lack of money. His Democratic colleague on the board, Fred W. Dill, said the same thing.

Lack of a home has resulted in keeping juveniles in jail which is against the law. The law also states that the commissioners must provide a detention home.

In his letter to Major William Jones of the Salvation Army, Judge Cramer pointed out that "Since January 1st we have been without detention quarters and in violation of the law, we are detaining children under 18 years of age in the county and city jails."

His letter adds "We have been unsuccessful in enlisting the support of the county commissioners in either renting or buying detention quarters. They state they are without funds."

PRAISES HELP

The letter adds that the Salvation Army had rendered a "marvelous service" to the community and to youth by detaining children, placed there by the court, "in an atmosphere not ordinarily that of detention quarters."

He added that for eight years he had enjoyed the Salvation Army's assistance and cooperation, "and for this service you were at no time paid what the services were really worth."

Judge Cramer then says that he would like the matter reconsidered by the Salvation Army. He adds that as a starting figure $250 to $300 per month would be considered for the service, plus costs of meals and laundry.

Judge Cramer said that Major Jones in a telephone conversation said he would take up the matter with district headquarters.

Judge Judges Wrong, Faces Five Charges

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Nathan Judge, 44, had a lot of things to explain in court today.

For almost four hours yesterday police were busy answering automobile accident calls and in each instance the license number or other identification was the same—it was Judge.

At 3:50 p. m. the automobile of Raymond Stephenson was hit but the offender didn't stop. At 4:14 there was another accident report and it was Judge's license number that was involved. At 5:50 Edward Strohmeier's car was hit and Judge's license number was the one reported. There was another accident at 7:25 but Judge had gotten away by the time the police arrived. At 7:28 Judge's car was reported as having hit one belonging to George Ruff. The police finally caught up with the elusive driver at 7:35.

The list of charges against Judge read like this: reckless driving, two instances of leaving the scene of an accident, driving while under the influence of liquor and failure to have a drivers' license.

Blockades Himself In Home

Ashlander Shoots Twice

By VIRGINIA LEED
N-J State Correspondent

Ashland police recuperated today from a wild night in which an angered ex-convict stood off all available policemen for more than two hours with a .22-calibre rifle.

The ex-convict, John Gaut, 48, of 1501 Cottage street, fired two shots at police officers who surrounded his home after Gaut had threatened four officers when they answered a complaint that he had been beating his wife, Mrs. Hattie Gaut, 75.

First reports of trouble came from neighbors who called police headquarters at 8:57 p. m. to report the family fight after hearing Mrs. Gaut scream.

Four policemen responded, then two returned to headquarters for reinforcements when Gaut barricaded himself in the house. Police Chief Harry Smith and two other officers then rushed to the scene, leaving Mayor Louis Mansfield deputized to handle the phone and police radio station at headquarters.

With Chief Smith seeki[illegible] calm Gaut down, the enraged [illegible] kept calling Mayor Mansfie[illegible] police headquarters and threa[illegible]ing to kill anyone sent out to [illegible]ture him. The mayor in turn [illegible] seeking assistance from the S[illegible] Highway Patrol. Two patrolmen arrived later, but were too late to aid the police.

ACTS UNARMED

Credit for the capture of the ex-convict went mainly to Chief Smith, who faced Gaut unarmed and kept him occupied while three officers sneaked up from the rear and completed the capture shortly, Those assisting Chief Smith in the dangerous operation were Officers John Geier, George Riggle and Theodore Willis.

Gaut fought madly as officers loaded him into a cruiser, but was subdued by Officers Earl Kaylor, Elmer Klaus and Chief Smith.

Gaut was bound over to the grand jury this morning on a charge of shooting with intent to wound and bond was set at $5,000. Mayor Mansfield acted as police judge in the absence of vacationing Judge Harold Andrews, jr.

SET UP ROAD BLOCK

Sheriff's deputies set up a road block on Cottage street near the scene and re-routed State Route 250-N traffic until Gaut was captured. Of the two shots fired by Gaut, Smith said one passed near the police cruiser equipped with a two-way radio set.

Neighbors told police Gaut was paroled from Missouri penitentiary through the efforts of Mrs. King, who later married him. Since coming to Ashland Gaut has been employed by the Erie railroad and has been arrested four times — twice for driving while intoxicated and twice for intoxication.

Mrs. Gaut told police her husband "had been drinking home brew all day" Monday.

Chief Smith said Gaut had been sentenced to the Missouri state penitentiary three times.

Gaut worried today about his action, asking police, "Will they hang me?"

Mrs. Gaut declined to see her husband today, police reported.

Gives Unique Definition of What Hotels Used To Be and Are Today

NEW YORK—A hotel is a building which they are always tearing up the street with compressed-air hammers that go rat-at-at-at (oh, you know how they go as well as I do) outside of.

A hotel is a place where it seems that every time I check in it is just beginning the slack season so they are tearing up the floors and knocking down walls to completely overhaul the plumbing in.

A hotel is an institution where some cheese-paring efficiency engineer made a contract to reduce the running expenses $100,000 a year without impairing the service to or comfort of the guests in return for 15 per cent of this economy, which is $15,000 a year for himself, as any dummy could figure up with a few match-sticks in a trice and three-fifths.

So the first thing he does is that he reduces the wattage of the bulbs and consequently you have to use Braille to read and radar to find the bathroom and you feel like a wall-eyed pike.

If you want a definition of a hotel, it is a place where they used to say the only thing they were interested in was to make you enjoy your stay. They searched the far ends of the earth to fetch you rare viands and exotic delicacies to tickle the most fastidious palate.

But now if you tell the captain "this hamburger is practically cremated and I distinctly told you so rare you can almost hear it moo", he throws up his hands and says "come on, be a good fellow, take something else because that chef belongs to the union and if I so much as say boo he will cut my heart out and fry it and eat it, and we just can't do anything about it."

A hotel is where they used to have a bar for the guests and their friends and sometimes a few actors, provided they behaved themselves and didn't try to sneak women up the back stairs, and you could get a drink at table, usually wine, though, and on certain nights they would have a few fiddles behind some palms off in a corner.

But nowadays they can't make up their mind whether they are in the show business or a honky-tonk with all kinds of grottos, glades, cascades and such joints and dames and guys bumping into posts all lushed up and bands whanging away and you have to shut up and hold still and your dinner gets cold while some illiterate master of ceremonies introduces some little tramp from Hollywood to sing half a dozen dirty songs that you wouldn't repeat to an Elk, or a magician to handcuff you to the guy's wife at the next table, people from Cohoes, by the way, and they own a little factory up there and you can call it a recession or whatever you like but business is definitely off, but fun's fun but no kidding, come on, now, unlock these handcuffs I don't get paid to work in your act, I got to get to bed.

A hotel is, furthermore, the proving ground, or test laboratory, for designers of the furniture of the future such as those chairs that just zig-zag this way and that way from top to bottom all in one piece.

They rest on sort of runners instead of regular chair legs and what they save by that you can search me because it looks like a plain case of anti-chair-legism if you want my candid opinion and anyway I want arms on my chairs.

Voices From the Past Find Ready Acceptance From Youth of Today

NEW YORK — Sweet singers of the golden age of song are enjoying a fresh wave of popularity in the jukebox generation.

"The favorites are Enrico Caruso, John McCormack, and Alma Gluck," said Wally Butterworth, a radio disc jockey. "They rank in that order—just as they did in their own lifetimes."

Butterworth, 46, differs from the ordinary disc jockey in that he plays classical or semi-classical vocal records instead of the current groaners.

"Collecting old records is a tremendous hobby today," he said, "and some of them bring fabulous prices—up to $100 or more.

"Probably the rarest records in the world are seven made in Italy by Caruso in 1902 for the Zonophone company. I've seen collectors pay $180 apiece for copies, and I know of only one man who has all seven."

Butterworth, who entered radio in 1929 as an announcer, has a library of 5,000 records, one of the largest in the country. Currently he is engaged in a nation-wide search for lost or unpublished recordings by great singers of the past.

When he started his radio program here more than two years ago over a local NBC station, he expected it would hold only a nostalgic appeal for oldtimers.

"But I was amazed at the way young people reacted," he said. "Many of them had never heard voices of that quality."

★

Butterworth later held a series of evening record concerts, and found 42 per cent of those who attended were under 30 years of age.

"Many were curious to hear more of the music their parents knew and loved," he said.

Butterworth places the golden age of song between 1875 and 1921, the year Caruso died.

"Few people realize the singers of that time were every bit as popular as Bing Crosby is today," he said.

"Caruso made at least $3,500,000 out of records alone, and in the year after his death his estate earned, $600,000 in royalties.

"More than 2,000,000 people bought John McCormack's record of 'I Hear You Calling Me,' made in 1912—and no one has ever sung it so well since. Alma Gluck's 1914 recording of 'Carry Me Back To Old Virginny,' sold 1,500,000 copies at $1.50."

Today the top salary at the Metropolitan opera is $750 a night but Butterworth said Caruso was paid $2,500 a performance from 1903 to 1920. On one concert tour he made $10,000 a night for 20 nights.

"It was a golden age in more ways than one," said Butterworth. "But they don't have voices like that any more.

"They could have—but they don't. It's chiefly a matter of work. They've injected too many Hollywood features into the business. They want the sopranos streamlined.

"In the old days a singer would study for five to seven years before even daring to sing an opera in public. Now they study two years and figure they are ready for the Met."

2 Boys Hurt In Bicycle Accidents

One Breaks Leg, Other His Foot

Two teen-aged Mansfield boys were injured late yesterday in separate bicycle accidents in the city.

Harold Schaus, 17, of 1240 West Fourth street road, suffered a broken right foot and scalp laceration when his motorbike collided with a truck at Rae avenue and West Fourth street. He was the second member of his family to be injured in accidents in two days.

His great uncle, Rudolph Schaus, 69, of West Fourth street road, suffered a severe scalp laceration Sunday when his auto was struck by a car as Schaus attempted to turn in the driveway at his home. Both uncle and nephew were reported recovering at their respective homes today.

Police said the Schaus youth's bike collided with a truck driven by Clifton Laser, 51, of 54 State street, at 5 p. m. The youth was treated at General hospital and released.

Reported in "good" condition at General hospital was Joe Watkins, 14, of 284 Superior street, who suffered a broken left ankle when he fell from his bicycle last night on Ashland road.

Watkins told police his foot slipped off the bike pedal, causing him to fall from the bike. Officers said the accident occurred at 10:30 p. m. about 75 feet south of East Fourth street.

'Never More Fun'

Girl Scouts Ending Busy Week At Camp

By EILEEN DEWHURST

"I never had so much fun in my whole life," was the typical comment of one of the 170 Brownies who are attending Girl Scout day camp at Camp Niniwan this week.

The five-day session for the 7-to-10-year-olds began last Thursday and will end tomorrow. Intermediate Girl Scouts attended the first five-day session which began July 7 and ended July 13.

This year 313 campers, the largest group ever to attend day time camp here, have been learning about nature in a way that's lots of fun at the 24-acre camp off West Fourth street road.

Using an Indian theme the girls have made and decorated teepees, worked on Indian crafts, cooked out, gone on nature hikes, learned Indian dances and songs and participated in archery and other sports.

The older group of girls made and decorated Indian teepees of burlap for their "living quarters" during the day. These teepees were left on the grounds for the use of the younger campers.

The Brownies made good use of all the scraps left from the larger teepees to make smaller ones for their miniature Indian villages complete with tiny canoes, artificial lakes, and Indian figures.

Twenty-eight experienced counsellors are directing the activities of the Brownies this week; 24 were on hand for the smaller group of girls the first session.

The girls leave by bus for camp at 8:30 a. m. each morning and leave the camp at 3 p. m. each day.

PROGRAM FOR PARENTS

Tonight parents and friends of the Brownies will attend a parents' night program at the camp. There will be a display of craft work done by the campers and the Brownies will present a program. The program will open at 7 p. m. but parents who wish to inspect the camp grounds and facilities are invited to come earlier if they wish.

The major building at the camp is a large lodge which was built by the 40 et 8 club of the American Legion in 1947. This year the lodge was winterized so it might be used for all-year-around overnight troop camping.

The ceiling of the lodge was lowered to make heating easier and the interior walls covered with wormy chestnut paneling. Window seats also were built for storage room.

The lodge consists of a large room with a fireplace and small stage, a kitchen, and a large porch.

There also are two smaller log buildings on the camp grounds.

Miss Margaret Rooney, executive director of Girl Scouts is camp director, and Mrs. E. G. Pankow is assistant director and consultant on nature and outdoor cookery.

Hear Soil Saving Appeal

Speaker Rips 'Square' Farming

By GAYLORD HAKE

The necessity of soil conservation if America is to survive was driven home with words and pictures to some 200 Richland county farmers who gathered at Madison High school last night for the first general meeting of the Richland County Farmers club.

Featured speaker was Tom Kelley, native of Minnesota and a leading authority on soil conservation.

The importance of the individual farmer and the land he works to this and all past civilizations was the theme of the hour long address.

"The future of America is in the hands of its farmers," Kelley said, as his flashing colored crayons illustrated his remarks.

"There is no substitute for food, and no nation has survived the destruction of its farm land," he said.

However, America is destroying its farm land as "top soil is washed and blown away."

"Bigger and better was to be our motto in America, even in destruction," Kelley remarked.

Unless conservation is practiced "we will join the parade of vanished civilizations that have gone before," he said.

HAILS BROMFIELD

A former member of the educational staff of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation service, Kelley said, "Richland county's Louis Bromfield has done more than any other one man to make the nation conscious of soil conservation."

America has ruined 500,000 acres of its finest farm land, and the land ruined in Ohio alone would cover three of the state's counties, Kelley stated.

"We can no longer afford bad agricultural practices," he said. "American farmers must cease square farming in round country. There are no square hills," he said.

Fields should be plowed to fit the contour of the ground, and the crops must be planted that are best suited to the ground in which they grow, he declared.

The speaker lauded the work of soil conservation districts, such as the one that exists in Richland county.

"We had the knowledge—we had the know how, but we couldn't get it on the land," Kelley said. The soil conservation districts are getting conservation put into practice, he said.

Members of the Senior 4-H club provided entertainment prior to the Kelley's address and sold refreshments after the meeting.

The speaker was introduced by Thomas Sheppard, president of the newly organized, Chamber of Commerce-sponsored club.

Woodland Plan OK'd

New plans and specifications for the Woodland School addition were approved by the Mansfield Board of Education last night when they were presented by O. H. Matthews, architect for Vernon Redding associates.

The board authorized John Eisaman, school board clerk, to advertise July 25 for construction contracts for the building. Bids will be opened Aug. 24 at noon. Bids taken several weeks ago were rejected because they were too high and the specifications were re-drawn.

The school board will meet at noon Aug. 5 to sell the old Newman school building.

Barnes Employes Picnic Tomorrow

The Barnes Manufacturing company will stage its annual picnic Wednesday afternoon at North Lake park. Factory workers will leave their jobs at 11:30 a. m. and office employees will be released at noon to pick up their families and attend the picnic.

A free picnic lunch will be available at 1 p. m. The lunch will be followed by a recreational period offering pony rides, motion pictures, soft ball games, bingo, horseshoes, boating and badminton.

The drawing of the grand prize will be held at 5:15 p. m., Marshall Seybold, picnic chairman said.

$27,000 Pupil Transportation Contract Goes To Mrs. Houston

A contract to provide transportation for 700 city public school children daily was awarded last night by the Mansfield Board of Education to Mrs. Myrtle Houston. The rate agreed upon was $155 per day which will total between $27,000 and $28,000 annually.

The Houston company will also transport pupils from the special schools to the John Simpson cafeteria each day at noon for lunch at a fee of $5 per day. This amount will be refunded to the school board by the state.

The board also approved erection of a billboard facing West Fourth street from Arlin stadium to display the complete Tyger's football schedule.

The E. A. Eckert company offered to erect and maintain the sign free of charge. The board also renewed its contract with the company for an advertising billboard at the field.

Tribe Takes Over Sox In 1-0 Victory

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Ladees and gentlemun—presenting the baseball show of the year — the on-the-warpath Cleveland Indians versus the terrible maulers from Gotham the New York Yankees

Last night's 1-0 victory by the Tribe over the Boston Red Sox narrowed the margin between the teams to 4½ games as the Yankees fell in the tenth inning before the Chicago White Sox, 6-5

If the Tribe can sweep this all-important series from the Bombers they will only be one-half game out of first

Manager Lou Boudreau, whose sensational comeback in the hitting department has helped to spark the Indians' recent rise, says, "We'll settle for two out of three"

"Two out of three here and two out of three in New York," he adds hopefully

So far this year the Tribe holds a six to five edge in victories over the Yanks It is the only club in the league to hold such an edge The Indians also are the only team to defeat the Bombers in a series in New York They did it on the last eastern swing, two games to one

Two all star righthanders got the mound assignments this afternoon They are Bob Lemon and the Yankees' Allie Reynolds Both men are after their eleventh wins Lemon has lost four and Reynolds only one

ATTACK FEATURE

A feature of the Yankees attack that the Tribe has not seen before this season is Joe DiMaggio DiMaggio's big bat has helped the Yanks to match the Indians push victory for victory

Since returning to the lineup June 28 after a heel operation, Joe has collected 23 hits in 53 times at bat hitting safely in 15 of the 18 games

The Yankees come to town at low ebb, having dropped three of their last four games They lost the final in a set of three at St. Louis and dropped two out of three to the pesky White Sox

The Tribe now has won two straight series from eastern invaders The Philadelphia Athletics dropped two out of three here So did the Red Sox

Youthful Mike Garcia was untouchable in the clutch last night as he set the Bosox down with six hits He only struck out four but two of those couldn't have been better placed

In the third inning with Johnny Pesky on third and Ted Williams on first Garcia whiffed dangerous Vern Stephens The Red Sox shortstop batted in all four Boston runs in the double-header Sunday

TED STRIKES OUT

The fabulous Ted Williams was the second important victim taking a fast one on the corner with two out and runners on first and third in the seventh

Stephens was an earlier victim of the strikeout pitch in the third with Williams on first

Cleveland also had a hard time with Rookie Maurice McDermott but managed to push over a run in the fifth when Jim Hegan doubled in Boudreau

In all McDermott yielded only seven hits two of them by Hegan Both pitchers walked four and had the same number of strikeouts

Gorman-Rupp Softball 9 Romps Behind Jim Regula

Gorman Rupp evened its Ohio Major league record at five victories and five defeats last night by walloping Canton Funeral home 8-1, under the Gorman-Rupp lights

Lanky Stretch Regula went all the way on the mound for the Pumpers and handcuffed Canton with only two hits He was never in serious trouble and set 15 men down by the strikeout route

Stretch, who has been on a home run spree of late, was moved up to the cleanup spot by Manager Nick Weber but failed to hit safely in two official trips to the plate The Pumpers got only three hits but took advantage of eight bases on balls to pile up their lead They tallied five times in the first inning

NEW YORK — (AP) — Now about a new line in the baseball box score — winning catcher, Hegan Losing catcher Lollar?

Turk Reill a veteran baseball man who now peddles sporting goods made the suggestion It isn't bad

Of course a catcher with a first division club has a much better won and lost record than a man on a cellar team The results however among catchers on the same team or with about the same league standing are most illuminating

Most baseball men agree that the catcher is a very important factor in the performance of a pitcher Yet nobody ever bothers to figure out their won and lost record

Take the high-flying New York Yankees, for instance So Yogi Berra is a clown is he? Well of the first 53 games the Yanks won he caught 42 His won-lost percentage of 656 is a shade better than the Yanks' for the season.

Take a look at the Phillies Andy Seminick who specializes in home runs has a 31-17 record or 646 as compared to the Phils 518 pace The second man on the staff Stan Lopata has a 12-20 mark

Or check Detroit Aaron Robinson the catcher the Tigers acquired from Chicago last winter He has a 34-20 winning mark although the Detroit club is just over 500 at 44-41

The way baseball is played today managers shift catchers and outfielders against southpaw or righthand pitching That of course throws off the figures to a certain extent Robinson for instance sees largely righthand pitching while Bob Swift rarely sees a righthander Berra on the other hand catches most of the time no matter who is throwing

Walker Cooper's record is contradictory With the New York Giants when he was hitting below 250 he had a 17-17 mark At Cincinnati where he is hitting 350 he has a 10-17 record The answer is that the Reds collapsed in a wild tumble toward the cellar while the Giants when Cooper was there, were a first division team

The man who has caught the most winning games is Jim Hegan of Cleveland but he also has lost the most for he has done almost all of the Tribe's receiving

Indian 'Pole' Fan Ready For Descent

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

That Cleveland flagpole sitter had better get ready to come down

Just seven weeks ago, one Charles Lupica climbed atop a 16-foot wooden flagpole over his drug store and vowed he would not come down until the Indians climbed to first place in the American league.

At the time, the Indians were mired in seventh place and appeared to have about as much chance of displacing the front-running New York Yankees as Lupica had of replacing Lou Boudreau as Tribe manager

But what a difference the next 49 days made. The Tribe did an about face and went on to win 31 of their next 47 games. rushing past five opponents into second place.

Today, the Indians are in their best spot since May 10 Following last night's 1-0 victory over the Boston Red Sox, the Redmen are only four and a half games behind the Yankees The Yankees helped the Indians along by blowing a 6-5 decision to the White Sox in Chicago Five weeks ago, Cleveland was 10½ games in back of the league leaders

A single with the bases loaded and two out in the 10th inning by George Metkovich scored Fred Hancock and Steve Souchock with the runs that gave the White Sox their victory over the Yankees

JOE DOES BEST

Joe DiMaggio did his best to put the win in the Yankee locker He collected a triple and two singles, drove in two runs and cut a potential winning Chicago run at the plate in the ninth

The Philadelphia Athletics wrested third place from the Red Sox by outlasting the Detroit Tigers, 13-8, in a 10-inning struggle The A's blew an 8-1 lead when Detroit's Johnny Groth blasted two homers, each with two mates aboard, but rallied for five runs in the 10th against Stubby Overmire and Dizzy Trout

The Brooklyn Dodgers increased their National league margin over the St Louis Cardinals to two and a half games, beating the Chicago Cubs, 3 0, while the New York Giants downed the Redbirds, 7-4

Lefty Joe Hatten pitched the shutout for the Dodgers, limiting the Cubs to five hits. Jackie Robinson starred for the Brooks He walked in the sixth, stole second, went to third on an error and swiped home for the third time this season. In the eighth, he tripled to score Gene Hermanski with Brooklyn's final run.

Lefty Monte Kennedy lifted the Giants out of a three-game tailspin with the help of home runs by Sid Gordon and Bobby Thomson

The Cincinnati Reds behind a combination three-hitter by Ewell Blackwell and Eddie Erautt, whipped the third place Boston Braves, 6 1

Held scoreless for seven innings, the Pittsburgh Pirates erupted for seven runs in the eighth to defeat the Phillies in Philadelphia, 7-2 Four pitchers vainly tried to stem the rally, with Jim Konstanty getting plastered with the defeat Murry Dickson went all the way for the Pirates

The Washington Senators and St Louis Browns enjoyed a day off

Galan Happy To Join A's In Flag Fight

DETROIT —(UP)— Never say die Augie Galan, eagerly starting a second comeback after being told he was washed up, confidently predicted today he would bat over 300 for Connie Mack's Athletics who saved him a trip to the minors

"Everyone said I was finished back in 1940 when I broke my kneecap, but I fooled 'em then and I figure I can do it again," he said as he put on his new Philadelphia uniform

Galan doesn't have to worry about the fans on his side, for they well remember how he fought his way out of a hospital bed after a year's retirement to aid Brooklyn in winning the 1941 pennant.

A veteran of 16 years in the majors, Galan was drawing only an occasional pinch-hitter role this season with the giants before they put him on the waiver bloc

"I'll always be grateful to Mr Mack for giving me a chance when all the clubs in the National league figured I was ready for the junk pile," Galan said

The shrewd Athletics manager must have confidence in the versatile Galan After only two days with the club he has him playing the regular left field spot

VFW Softballers Win First Round Crown

Ronnie Hunt Stars In 6-To-3 Victory

The Veterans of Foreign Wars nailed down the first half championship of the American Softball league last night by outlasting Farm Tools, 6-3, at Prospect park.

The game had been postponed from earlier in the season and a Toolmen victory would have tied VFW with Liederkranz for the lead. By winning, VFW ends the first half season with five victories and one defeat while Liederkraiz has four and two Ronnie Hunt was pretty much the whole show for VFW as he held Farm Tools to five hits and sent his team out in front with a three-run homer in the second inning He had a shutout going into the bottom half of the sixth.

GETS FIRST HIT

After Hunt's second inning homer, VFW scored single tallies in the third aand fifth to run the score to 5-0 In the last of the fifth, Bob Byrd got Farm Tools' first hit and proceeded to third as a walk and fielder's choice loaded the bases with only one out. Bus Backensto, however, hit to second base to start a double play and the Toolmen failed to score.

Each team got a run in the sixth on Packer's home run for VFW and Jake Lyons' blast for Farm Tools

In the last of the seventh Curry singled, pinch-hitter Jack Walters tripled and Clint Ziegler drove him home with a hit.

Snead Takes Money Lead With Victory

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — (AP) — One reason why Sammy Snead has acquired a reputation for cracking under pressure in a golf tournament is that he's always under pressure.

Snead, the slugger from White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., is the leading money winner on the tournament circuit again after his victory yesterday in the Dapper Dan open. He's always up among the leaders and he's the man who draws the galleries. As a result, every time he misses a shot or blows a short putt it's the same as blowing several hundred dollars — and everybody sees him do it

Sammy missed one on the last green at Reading, Pa., and it cost him $700. Yesterday he was under the same kind of pressure. Last off the tee in the rain - delayed final round and hearing from time to time that Lloyd Mangrum was slashing strokes off par and off the five - stroke lead Snead held after the third round.

Dapper Lloyd finished with a five - under - par 67 for a 275 and Snead needed to finish in par figures to match that. The big and troublesome gallery closed around Snead but, instead of cracking, he fired his second shot on the 470 - yard, par - five hold to the green, got down in two putts and parred the next two holes to win by a stroke with 274.

Mangrum collected $1,900 second moey of great finish Snead collected $2,600, bringing his total for the year to $20,960.83 and putting him ahead of open champion Cary Middlecoff on the "official" money list

Middlecoff shot 279 to tie with Herman Barron of White Plains, N Y, for third place. They earned $1,275 apiece.

Fuchs Closes In On Record

BELFAST — (UP) — Jim Fuchs, the big siege gun from Yale, was at the top of his shot putting form today and a bigger threat than ever to the world's record held by Charley Fonville of Michigan

Fuchs set a new North Ireland record of 57 feet 2¾ inches in winning that event yesterday in an international meet at Windsor Park.

The toss was less than 10 inches short of the world mark of 58 feet, ⅜ inch held by Fonville. It was more than a foot better than the 56 feet, two - inch toss with which Wilbur Thompson of Los Angeles won the Olympics last year.

Crash Kills Vince Foster On 'Eve' of Comeback Try

PIPESTONE, Minn —(INS)—Welterweight Vince Foster's brilliant ring career was tragically ended today a short time before he was to begin training for a "march to the title"

The 22-year-old part Indian, a merciless slugger in the ring and a Bible-student outside, was fatally injured yesterday when his flashy auto crashed into the rear end of a tractor-trailer near Pipestone

One other occupant of the Foster auto, 19-year-old Ruth Newcome of Helena, Mont, also died as a result of the crash Two others riding with the ill-fated young battler were critically injured

It was believed Foster and his four companions were returning to Sioux Falls, S. D, from a dance at Hatfield, Minn., when the accident occurred.

STOPPED BY KO

During his meteoric rise, Foster was affectionately tagged a "new Billy Petrolle" by fight fans. The rise was unceremoniously halted recently by Charles Fusari who kayoed Vince in the first round of their New York battle.

His manager Jack Hurley, fondly called the blazing slugger "my bum"

Hurley, reached in Chicago, said Foster had been due there tomorrow to begin "training for what we planned would be a march to the title."

Foster won 31 of 35 fights, chilling 20 of his opponents with knockout punches.

Rocky Kayoes 38th Victim

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass. — (AP) — Rocky Graziano's 50th victory today appeared to be one of the most costly in his seven-year boxing career.

The former middleweight champion registered his 38th knockout in 64 starts by stopping Joe Agnosta, another New Yorker, in the second round of their scheduled 10-round feature bout last night before a 4,500 crowd here in the century stadium.

But while so doing, Graziano suffered a deep gash over his left eye that, his management said, would sideline him "from three to four weeks."

Although they have not won since 1937, the New York Giants have captured the National League pennant 13 times—more than any other team.

I'VE GOT THE TEMPERATURE UP PRETTY HIGH! IS IT TOO WARM FOR YOU?
NO, NO! THIS IS SO RELAXING! BY THE WAY, I'D LIKE TO MAKE AN APPOINTMENT FOR NEXT WEEK!

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3 The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

ILU Urges Fact Board

Would End Long Hawaiian Strike

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Union leader Harry Bridges told Congress yesterday that the lengthy Hawaiian longshoremen's strike would "be over tomorrow" if employers would agree to arbitrate the dispute.

Bridges, testifying before the Senate labor committee, declared that his International Longshoremen's union is prepared "to immediately call off the strike, return to work and accept the decisions" of a presidential arbitration board.

He made the statement after employers' spokesman James P. Blaisdell told the committee that management involved in the dispute will not accept such a board.

Bridges asserted:

"The union is strong and united and intends to hold out for a satisfactory settlement, and a union's right to organize and meet its employer on an equal footing.

"The workers have been told the strike may last three or six months, and they are prepared. We don't like a strike. but it seems to be in this case the only language this arrogant group of employers will listen to."

OK 1-Year Contract

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Some 12,000 employes of the Timken Roller Bearing company yesterday went back to work in the firm's five Ohio plants. They agreed over the week end to accept a new one-year contract thereby averting a strike.

The employes, members of the CIO - United Steelworkers of America, concluded two-week vacations yesterday. Those at the Canton plant voted on Timken's latest contract offer Saturday, while workers at the firm's plant in Columbus, Zanesville, Wooster and Mount Vernon met yesterday.

The new contract provides for a renewal of the 1948 agreement with two major changes. Nearly 2,900 selected employes in the five plants will get pay raises of between one and 22 cents an hour, and the union retains the right to reopen after 90 days negotiations on wages, pensions and an insurance plan.

The vote yesterday in the four plants was unanimous, according to Harry Mayfield, president of the Columbus local. There were seven dissenting votes Saturday in the balloting at Canton.

Will Discuss 'Cold Rubber' Process

The process by which "cold rubber" is manufactured and its advantages over ordinary rubber will be discussed by H. B. Soulen, president of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company, at the Kiwanis club meeting Thursday at the Mansfield Leland hotel.

The Mansfield Tire and Rubber company is one of the firms that are jointly manufacturing and testing cold rubber at the nation's largest plant in Baton Rouge, La.

ORCHESTRA BOOKED

China Hit By Floods

CANTON, China —(AP)— Floods scourging China have driven 350,000 persons from their homes in the southern province of Kwangtung alone, nationalist officials estimated last night.

The Pearl, East, West and North rivers, converging in the vicinity of this Kwangtun capital, all are out of their banks.

Floods also were reported causing havoc in the southern or south-central provinces of Hunan, Fukien, Kwangsi, Kiangsi and Kweichow, with no estimates of the homeless available.

The Hunan provincial government estimated that 57,878 persons had drowned in that province, but gave no indication how it had arrived at such an exact figure.

(Hunan is in the war zone, so that any casualty figures is likely to be merely a rough guess.)

Officials Predict Continued Food Cost Drop

Quarterly Consumption Seen Lower

Supply To Load Nation's Markets

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The Interior department forecast today that the downward trend in food prices will continue through the third quarter of this year.

In a special report of the nation's economy, the department said that consumption of food, and particularly higher priced items, will lessen somewhat with decreasing employment and the resulting drop in income.

The department said that while food exports will continue in large volume, "Domestic supplies will be so large as to be burdensome in our markets."

Interior experts said that the course of meat prices this summer "is open to considerable question." Meat prices usually rise somewhat in mid-summer and decline in the fall. But the department said:

"It seems likely that the usual mid-summer rise, if it occurs at all, will be very slight."

Sen. Thomas (D) Okla., chairman of the Senate agriculture committee, has introduced a bill meanwhile to give the government authority to control the marketing of virtually all farm commodities when surpluses threaten farmer prices.

The bill, drawn up by Agriculture Secretary Brannan, would include all livestock, poultry and grains under his marketing control powers for the first time.

Brannan now has authority to control only the marketing of fruits, vegetables, honey bees, naval stores, hops and tobacco when requested by producers.

Tentative $141,925 Budget Adopted By Shelby Council

Shows Rise Of $8,485 In New Year

Fire Department Needs Top List

SHELBY—Council last night passed a resolution adopting a tentative budget of $141,925 for the year 1950. The tentative budget submitted by Director of Finance Chester Monn showed an increase of $8,485 over last year's budget.

The total requested for the general fund was $122,625. This plus $13,000 for bond retirement and $3,150 each for the police pension and fireman's pension fund brought the total to $141,925.

The decrease in sewer construction from $10,000 to $3,000 due to the termination of the one mill levy was offset by the $10,500 due to the beginning of the one mill levy for the new fire truck.

The one large increase which made it necessary to ask for the larger budget was $6,000 for other expenses for the fire department. This figure included $4,700 increase in hydrant rental and $1,300 for the maintenance of fire equipment and other expenses.

Other categories showing an increase were $500 for relief; $300 for health; $500 for repairing the tennis courts; $1,000 for other expenses for the police department and $500 for personal services in the fire department.

The personal services in the police department showed a decrease of $5,500.

The increase in the budget for 1950 will be offset also by the $3,500 from increased evaluations.

Council authorized the construction of six-inch water lines for Grand Boulevard extension known as the Coleman Addition. The resolution passed covered 1,231.52 feet of pipe at an approximate cost of $1.46 per foot.

Mayor William Morris presented a letter from John Jones, 145 North Broadway, demanding a claim of $250 from the city for damages to his property when excessive oil placed on the city roads was washed into his garden.

Police Radio Change Over Plan Explained In Ashland

ASHLAND — A program for changing over the present Ashland police radio system to a new wave band to conform with the turning over of the present band for public utilities use was outlined before Ashland city council Monday night by a representative of the Motorola company.

P. M. Cornell, engineer for the company, suggested the present frequency of 37.9 megacycles be changed to the 150 megacycles already being used by several other Ohio cities.

Cornell suggested the antenna for the new system be placed atop the city water tank to allow inter-city communication. He suggested Ashland use the same band as Shelby and Mansfield allowing inter-city communication in emergencies. He gave an informal quotation of $3,223.50 for new equipment and installation.

Council accepted the low bid of the Ashland Farmers bank on a $14,500 one year note for street improvements. The bid was for 1.20 per cent interest.

As Washington Views Senator Taft

AS VIEWED in Washington, Senator Taft's decisive victory in bringing about substitution of his own labor bill for the administration measure represents an important triumph for the Ohio senator, and politicos believe he has thus won a preliminary round in next year's contest for re-election to the Senate.

A Washington political writer, close to the scene, comments: "In the 1950 senatorial race, Taft will campaign on his record and on the issues, and even though he faces the formidable opposition of organized labor, his chances at the moment appear bright . . . Administration leaders are frankly perturbed about their chances of 'getting rid of Taft' in next year's Ohio election.

"Main problem confronting the Democrats is finding a sufficiently magnetic candidate to pit against Buckeye Bob in the Senate race. The problem became acute when Ohio's Democratic Governor Frank Lausche, who had been counted on to make the race against Taft, hinted that he was not interested . . . Aside from the governor the Democrats haven't anyone in sight who could match Taft's strength at the polls."

As need for some such restraints as are provided in the Taft-Hartley law is increasingly evidenced by strikes and strike threats which would impose heavy penalties on the nation as a whole, the soundness of Senator Taft's leadership, and of his views on national issues, are becoming more generally recognized, not only in Ohio but in other states as well.

Death Closes 'A Farmer's Diary'

IT WAS on an afternoon in early January 1938 that a pleasant but somewhat diffident gentleman came to The News-Journal editorial department to talk about an idea he had in mind.

It turned out that he was Calvin A. Byers, teacher in Mansfield Senior high school and also greatly interested in farming and writing.

His idea was that he might write a daily article on farm subjects and the several samples he submitted were immediately recognized as a new and different approach to such a feature, happily combining rural and urban interest.

Outgrowth of that conversation was "A Farmer's Dairy", which has since been a regular feature in this newspaper, and in a number of others by which its merit was recognized.

It was only recently said by Louis Bromfield, Richland county author-farmer, that he wished every newspaper reader in the country might have opportunity to read Mr. Byers' articles.

Now the friendship and association with Mr. Byers, which has extended through more than a decade, is broken by his death, which came unexpectedly to us here at The News-Journal, although we have realized that he has been in failing health for the past several years.

It was not an easy way of life that Calvin Byers chose for himself, but for him it was as satisfying as can be imagined, and he was happy in his teaching career, his farm work and his writing, with his final months gladdened by the arrival of a granddaughter, the graduation of a son from high school and the recent dedication to him of the Manhigan, the Senior high school annual, as an expression of appreciation of the young people who had been privileged to come under his fine influence as a part of their schooling.

Despite his other activities it can be safely said that Mr. Byers' greatest interest centered in his home and family—his wife, one daughter and four sons—and an acquaintanceship with this family circle justifies expression of confident belief that the parental guidance given these children will carry through to commendable accomplishments by each of them in future years. That, indeed, is a more beneficial inheritance than an abundance of worldly goods.

Six Housewives Show the Way

THE CITY of Passaic, N. J., has witnessed an example of what a group of aroused women can do in the way of making a change in local government. Starting in a social conversation concerning a garbage collection strike, the results of which were further complicated by a heavy snow, the Association For a Better Community has overcome many obstacles. It is a fruit of the determination of six housewives.

The Passaic government operated by a commission of five men should be changed to a city manager plan, say these women, who are supported by the local League of Women Voters but by neither major political party. Whether or not the "Six Housewives", as the association is known in its home city, accomplish the goal of a city manager plan of government, the association has proved to the women and to their community that they are capable of working together on a civic project which has involved the circulation of petitions, the lobbying for legislation, and a court fight over the vote of absentee service men. Their power will probably not again be discounted in Passaic.

Lincoln Biographer Honored

JAMES G. RANDALL, Illinois biographer of Lincoln, has just received an honorary degree from Virginia's Washington and Lee University.

Thus the university once headed by Robert E. Lee, called by some of the noblest flower of the South, takes into its fellowship the biographer of Abraham Lincoln, for most northerners and many southerners the perfect American. This is a welcome sign that a wound which once gaped wide open is healing at last.

What Some Other People Are Saying

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Political Bungling Endangers England

AFTER a review of England's economic troubles, a larger peril presents itself—a political peril. Beset on all sides by privations and difficulties, and governed by a Labor party which is sunk in the mire of unfulfilled promises, the British people might turn to a strong man for salvation.

Despites their long indoctrination in freedom and liberal political institutions, the British people might, under unbearable privations, lose their inherited faith in free political institutions.

They might decide, as have many free people before them, that it is safe to accept dictatorship for a little while. Few of the peoples of the world ever expected to live forever under tyranny.

They accepted it to meet a crisis or to fulfill a great immediate need. Almost always, except in wars, they have regetted it—but too late to save themselves.

Americans have done it with less disastrous results. They accepted a large measure of dictatorship in the Hundred Days of 1933 when Roosevelt secured from Congress more discretionary power than any President had held in peacetime.

* * *

Leadership Is Weak.

THE REASON British voters have tolerated the Labor government thus far, despite its fumbling with their lives and interests, is because the Conservative party is a poor alternative. Much of the incompetence in business and industry is due to stuffy and purblind private owners and managers.

The British coal, steel, textile and machinery plant deteriorated over the years. New methods successful in Germany and the United States were ignored. Imagination was lacking. The Conservative party is hopelessly identified with this private ownership. Voters could find no salvation there.

No one within the Conservative party except Churchill seems to have the capacity to overcome this handicap. It might well be that a younger and more vigorous Churchill could do it. Perhaps there is enough of life and vigor and imagination left to Churchill to do it yet.

Will he produce another "finest hour?" That depends largely on Churchill. The reason it is to be doubted is that, while Churchill had the capacity to take over with a strong hand in war, he was a trained military man. His whole life study and experience was ready for the problems of war. He has no such economic skill.

All we have heard from him in the past four years have been criticisms of Labor, the recollections of great war days and denunciation of communism.

Perhaps a strong leader may yet emerge from the Conservative party. There is certainly no such individual in Labor. Cripps hesitates to cut through party underbrush. Attlee is just "good old Clem."

It is difficult but not impossible for a man or party to rise between the two parties and, in a situation steadily growing worse, to inspire—or shall we say intoxicate—the country with the hope of salvation. Such a movement would be called fascist, but if matters grow worse name-calling would be ineffective.

The possibility of strong rule under such a man or party would be increased by the nationalization already achieved by Labor. These government powers are made to order for dictatorship. That is why they are so dangerous.

When Roosevelt said that there were "instruments of power" in his government to enslave the people under a man with less devotion to democracy, he meant what he said. And it was true. Partial socialism is a veritable prescription for tyranny.

Such a turn in England's affairs would be a dreadful menace to the traditions of freedom. But it could come through frustration and despair.

Frankly Speaking

After Joining the Pact

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — On Thursday our road into the future takes a new turning.

Whether in the end it will have any real meaning, although it sounds big now, remains to be seen, as this will show.

On Thursday, after two weeks of debate, the Senate is expected to approve our joining the Atlantic Pact. This pledges us to help the nations of western Europe, which have signed the pact with us, if they're attacked.

Since Russia is the only nation on the continent big enough to do the attacking, the pact is aimed at Russia.

So it's an outright military alliance, the first America has ever entered with other nations in peacetime.

(Our joining the United Nations was a kind of military alliance but it is hedged around with "if's". Besides, U. N. hasn't worked so far).

If they stand solidly together as allies—and, in addition, know we'll go to their defense—they'll have more will to stand up against Russia.

* * *

Past and Present.

THE LESSON from World War II is still clear. Before 1939 the western powers were un-allied and we stood aloof until Hitler had overrun them.

If they had been allied solidly and he had known we'd fight for them, Hitler might not have started the war at all. But the will to resist Russia is one thing, the ability to do it is another.

So, after the Atlantic Pact is signed, it raises some other questions: What happens then; do we just sit back and tell western Europe we'll help out after it is attacked?

Or, having signed the pact, do we pitch in and help Europe build up its defense by sending it arms before there is any attack? The pack supporters, and they're in the majority, point out:

1. If western Europe is militarily weak, Russia may be able to sweep over it and stand astride all Europe. It might be too late for us to help then. And, if we did try to help, we'd have to fight our way back onto a conquered Europe where we had no allies left.

2. But if western Europe is well-armed, and Russia attacks, it may be able to stand firm until we arrive with help and then the armies of our allies could join with our armies against the Russians.

President Truman, the state department and western Europe want this country to back up the pack by sending arms. That program of arms will cost about $1,500,000,000 to start, probably more later.

But right here the whole thing snags: For two weeks a small band of Republican senators—led by Taft of Ohio and Donnell of Missouri—have opposed the Atlantic Pact and delayed Senate approval of it.

They're so outnumbered—at least, on the pact—that the Senate is expected to okay the pact Thursday evening. But—

Taft and his followers have raised such a storm about the whole idea that the arms program—which has to be voted on separately—probably won't get through the Senate this session at all, if it ever gets through.

So, even after the Senate blesses the pact, the big question remains: Will it be worth a dime without the arms program? Without the arms, will western Europe have any faith in our sincerity, or their ability, to back up the pact? In short, is the pact alone enough to give Europe the will to block Russia?

Help for Chronic Drunks.

Ohio, belatedly, is going to do something about and for chronic drunks.

Best medical testimony for some years has been that such persons are sick, medically sick, and need definite treatment.

The legislature finally has passed a bill setting up a commission to study the problem and recommend treatment. It was sponsored by the Cleveland Welfare Federation which well knows the cost of drunkenness in health, jobs and broken homes and neglected children.

Passing the law and setting up the commission won't do the job alone. Ohio must follow through.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Summer Heat Foments World Conflicts

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Summer is not a time when the American public likes to worry about world problems. Nor is summer a time when a newspaper columnist particularly likes to write about them.

For reasons unknown, however, fate has seen to it that some of the world's worst catastrophes were catapulted upon us at a time when our primary concern was baseball, beaches, and bathing beauties.

It was July, 1914, that the Serbs saw fit to assassinate Austrian Archduke Franz Ferdinand, thus precipitating World War I. It was the summer of 1938 that Hitler started his campaign to swallow Czechoslovakia. It was the following summer of 1939 that began World War II. And, perhaps even more significant, it was the summer of 1931 that began the European economic crisis that put Hitler into power.

There are certain similarities between that financial crisis of 1931 and the present British financial crisis. And, despite baseball and hot weather, it will pay us to watch them.

Between 1921 and 1931, the United States had poured several billion dollars into European reconstruction in the same general way we have poured money into Europe since V-E day. The money, of course, was advanced by private bankers, not the government; but since the bankers sold their bonds to the unsuspecting public, actually it was paid by the American people in the end.

Furthermore, much of our money went to Germany, which actually used it to pay reparations to France and England. So, in real fact, we were the main support of our allies, just as we are today through the Marshall plan.

* * *

How Hitler Rose.

EVENTUALLY, and all too slowly, even the bankers, after repeated warnings from the government, woke up to the fact that their long-term loans to central Europe were a poor risk And in the spring of 1931, falling prices in the U. S. A., plus the continued crashing of the famed bull market, dried up the flow of funds across the Atlantic. Immediately the banks in Austria and Germany began to tremble.

It was the British in 1931—as in 1949—who first called upon the U. S. A. for aid. Their money, perhaps even more than ours, was invested in central Europe; so they asked for a moratorium on all reparations by Germany to them and all war-debt payments by them to us.

Then as now, the secretary of the treasury, Andrew Mellon, crossed the Atlantic, for conferences. Then as now, the British urged that the United States save the day.

We did—for the time being. President Hoover declared a moratorium on all debt and reparations payments — for two years.

This, however, was only temporary. The economic crisis drifted [illegible] and deepened. With depression comes political unrest. And one year later, a fuehrer had raised his head in Germany. A few months after that, he had stepped into power.

All disarmament stopped. The League of Nations began to disintegrate. It was now only a matter of time before war was inevitable.

There are a lot of differences between the first cracks in the world's economy in 1931 and the first cracks to show in 1949. But the main object lesson to be remembered is: Depression breeds unrest, and enough unrest breeds war.

* * *

Remedies For England.

TODAY England — and western Europe is in just about the same boat—faces the following alternatives:

1. Do nothing and go broke.
2. Beg for more aid from the United States and become a poor pensioner.
3. Improve plants and productions. This has not been done to any great extent with Marshall plan money, despite outmoded factories which make most European goods cost more than ours.
4. Negotiate tight, two - way barter deals, such as the British-Argentine trade pact; though these usually boomerang in the end.
5. Trade with Russia and the Iron Curtain countries.

The latter alternative is the one which has recently tempted the British to the tune of a 1,000,000-ton wheat deal. It also contains dangerous potentialities for undermining the chief political objective of the Marshall Plan—blocking communism.

For it is doubtful whether any member of Congress would have voted a nickel into the Marshall Plan kitty without the promise that it would check the westward march of Russian communism.

Moderate trade with Russia through normal channels is not going to bring communism westward. But the trade that Russia wants is not going to be normal. It will be barter—and with all sorts of strings attached. In fact, the barter deals which a depression-worried western Europe makes with Iron Curtain countries must inevitably lead to two things:

A. The economics of the Iron Curtain countries, now dangerously low, will be revived. It should be remembered that depression behind the Iron Curtain has been one reason for Tito's rebellion and for the restlessness of the Czech, Polish, Hungarian populations. New trade deals, therefore, would be a lifesaver to the Soviet.

B. Any expansive east - west trade will direct Europe's political thinking toward Russia, not the U. S. A. The Moscow radio would make the most of it. The communist parties of France and Italy would hail it as a major victory—as it would be.

Furthermore, if depression should deepen in Europe, as it did in 1931-32, riots and revolutions are inevitable. That is the kind of climate in which fuehrers are bred. That is also the kind of development Moscow has been longing for.

Fortunately the Marshall Plan still has more than three years to run. Furthermore, the British financial scare has come early—in time for the Marshall planners to probe deeper into Europe's basic economy—by improving factory methods, breaking down boundaries, and building toward an unrestricted United States of Europe.

If the danger flags are not heeded immediately and vigorously, however, 1949 could turn out to be another 1931.

Just a Little Boastful

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — Some people are unbearable because all their ancestors came over on the Mayflower.

Others are equally insufferable because they boast of lineal descent from the first ape ever to try a handstand in the forest primeval.

And still others brag that they are gents because no one in the family has done a lick of honest work in ten generations.

But I belong to the newest aristocracy, a limited group to whom the Almanac De Gotha is devoting its next supplement.

I am unendurable because I belong to that restricted, little group that has seen the three current musical hits of Broadway, "South Pacific," "Kiss Me Kate" and last but not least, the new Irving Berlin-Robert Sherwood musical comedy, "Miss Liberty."

In this day and age, kings are "as corny as Kansas in August" and just as common. But anyone who has seen all three of the above musicals can breathe down the back of a DAR or a Garter Knight and make 'em like it.

We are a pestiferous little group who like to get together to boast how we finagled tickets and lie about how much we paid for 'em. And there is now a move afoot to organize into a fraternal brigade that for sheer exclusiveness will lay in the shade all such groups as the Cincinnati, the Sons and Daughters of the I Will Arise, and Knights of Pythias and the Junior League.

There is an even more exclusive group — a sort of Inner Circle — that has also seen "Death of a Salesman," the premier dramatic hit of Broadway to which tickets cost no more than a right arm.

* * *

Warned By Mama.

I EXPECT this inner circle to remain closed to me indefinitely as I cannot overcome a natural antipathy to bankrupting myself for ducats to a drama about a traveling salesman, a type gent Mama said meant no good to a girl and, anyway, was bound to come to a bad end.

"Miss Liberty," the newest arrival on Broadway, with $430,000 of advance seat sales already in the till, is a sparkling show with the best dancing in town and good tunes a customer can take home to whistle in the shower.

It is also the first musical comedy ever presented on Broadway with a book written by a literary light who is the only author ever to hit the Pulitzer prize jackpot four times. Robert Sherwood has written one of the most literate musical comedy books in history.

Furthermore, he has endeared "Miss Liberty" to me by making its hero a newspaper photographer, usually the battered but unbowed, and certainly the unsung, hero of most newspaper sagas—at least, to hear them tell it.

Some of my best friends are newspaper photographers, and I am glad at long last to see them getting their just reward on Broadway. "Miss Liberty" is the second Broadway offering in a year whose hero is a photographer. The gent who walks off with Russ Hussey in "Goodbye, My Fancy" is also a photographer.

In both instances, photographers are presented as literate gents, capable of uttering two syllable words and eating peas with a fork. This is a distinct novelty in the literary presentation of photographers, who usually appear in fiction as uncouth clowns addicted to loud haberdashery, monosyllables and tooth picks.

All the photographers I know about are very couth, indeed, dressed like bankers, given to courtly manners and usually twice as intelligent and helpful on assignments as other reporters.

So it is a pleasure to this seasoned — shall we say? — newspaper reporter to see the photographer portrayed as the chesterfield he is and not as a mugg who accidently turned out to be a photographer merely because someone thrust a box Brownie into his hands in his formative years, instead of a submachine gun.

Your Greatest Menace

By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHAT'S the greatest menace to your life?

Who is the greatest enemy you'll ever tangle with? What's the most terrible trap you'll walk into without knowing it?

You yourself are your greatest menace, your greatest enemy, your most treacherous trap.

You don't believe it? Then think this through.

Where do your failures start? Not in the circumstances around you, not in the high cost of living or your lack of pull—these things can certainly cramp your style but they happen to all of us. They have happened to the greatest people in America, men and women.

They happened to the pioneers who built the colonies and conquered the West. Those people were up against circumstances a thousand times more rugged than you will ever see.

You can't control circumstances but you can control how you take them. And that's where your success and failure are really determined.

If you take bad breaks whining—if you wallow in self pity or hate or revenge—you're licked more surely than if an enemy turned a submachine gun on you.

But if you take adversity in your stride—if you tell yourself that you can't be licked because you have something in you which can rise above all dark challenges, you're on the way to success, stranger, even though you live in a walk-up flat in the city slums.

All right—you have a right to your doubts but just take a sporting chance. Try it out the next time a K. O. comes your way. See if you're going to lie down and take it sniveling—or be a man.

WHAT gets me is that Bill O'Dwyer wants to be mayor of New York again. Gosh, if I had my vacations busted up as many times as he has when trying to get a little rest from a tough job, it would take a special law to force me into an encore.

He had better carry special aviation instruments in the future, so he can tell whether he's coming or going.

* * *

I hear Bill always faces backward when his plane leaves New York, so he won't be too disappointed when Mike Quill makes him return.

* * *

I don't see why the mayor doesn't give up vacations that require airplanes. He could do better just by going up in a balloon anchored immediately over New York.

U. S. Making Moves To Guard Northern Front

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON — (AP) — New indications of quiet moves by the United States to improve its military lookout in the far north were disclosed yesterday in official quarters.

Among the projects is work on a small naval operating base located in a fiord at Grondal, near the southwest tip of Greenland.

This little-known installation is used to provide limited repair and general supply service to ships operating in that area, the navy says. So far as is known, this is one of the most northern of the navy's secondary bases in the Atlantic and Arctic regions.

Increasing emphasis is being placed on the possibility of air attack on the United States across the polar regions. Thus both the navy and air force have been intensifying efforts to maintain patrol of those regions.

The navy, since the war, has begun building or conversion of ships and submarines into specially designed radar picket craft. Their mission is to watch for strange planes stealing in across the top of the world. The work of these craft is supplemented by the routine operations of small naval craft operating on ordinary survey missions along the lonely coast lines of the far north. Landing craft and vessels up to 50 tons do much of this coastal survey work.

The air force already has asked Congress for funds to build a network of radar aircraft detection stations along the northern rim of the North American continent. It also is seeking funds to improve aerial navigation of its planes.

Among its recent requests is one for $2,850,000 to be used in a "northeast Loran chain." Loran is an electronic system used to locate and guide planes or ships. Air force officials said they were not ready to disclose the position of the proposed Loran chain nor discuss its function.

The status of American bases in Greenland is obscure. Both the defense establishment and State department have had little to say about the existence of air or naval facilities there.

Negotiations between Denmark, which owns Greenland, and the United States have been under way for about two years. They are directed at substituting some new agreement to replace the wartime understandings which enabled the United States to operate military installations in Greenland.

Warden Ready For Emergency

MOUNDSVILLE, W. Va. — (UP) — West Virginia's old method of execution, hanging, was changed to electrocution by the 1949 session of the legislature.

But at the state penitentiary Warden Orel J. Skeen said the 50-year-old gallows will remain standing even after installation of an electric chair.

That's to cover the possibility of a death sentence for a crime committed before the law was passed, in which case hanging would be the penalty.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

MANHATTAN NIGHTS

Eagerness, as I write this, is oozing out of every pore In common with many another palpitating theatre-goer, I can hardly wait until the official birth of Irving Berlin's newest star-spangled brainchild, "Miss Liberty"

I have my tickets, they are nestling in the upper right hand desk drawer among the war bonds, and it is going to take a blizzard a hurricane, or an epidemic of flying saucers over the Empire State Building to keep me away from the premiere

For one thing, I am an old Irving Berlin fan (have been ever since he switched his type from "Always" to "Cheek To Cheek") and for another I am anxious to see three performers not usually associated with musical comedy — Charles Dingle, Philip Bourneouf and the venerable and delightful Ethel Griffies — disporting themselves in a song and dance show

The fact that these three, all "legitimate" actors, if you'll pardon the expression, have been cast in such an opus seems to me a fine idea, and I think the entire membership of Actors Equity should give thanks It is another telling kick to the mid section of that ancient bugaboo of actors, type casting

* * *

It is true of course that musicals in the past have used "straight" actors in non-singing parts Mr Berlin's own "Annie Get Your Gun," for instance, made triumphant use of a talented fellow named Harry Bellaver, and let s never forget Walter Huston in "Knickerbocker Holiday" But by and large there has been a tendency on the part of the big guns of show business to maintain that "legitimate" actors were "legitimate" actors and musical comedy actors musical comedy actors, and never the twain should meet

Some actors, of course are happily equipped with a combination of singing voice and dramatic ability — Mary Martin and Enzio Pinza are the most shining current example — but there's no reason why even actors who can't sing should be barred from the noise-and-glitter divertissements Modern musicals aren't like operetta One or two good voices in the cast are enough to take care of all the necessary pear shaped tone producing demanded by the average show

In fact, I wish I had an extra opening night pair for Miss Liberty" for every musical I've seen in which all the stars had to do, music-wise, was to chirp their way gamely, it untunefully through some of the score, while the burden of honest vocalizing rested on the padded shoulders of one lone baritone

So to "Miss Liberty" in general, a welcome in advance To the cast likewise, and a little P S, thus

Make it good, kids A lot of other "straight" actors, banished hitherto to the Siberia of the heavy drayma, are looking to you for liberation

* * *

Speaking of type casting I feel moved to report on the sad plight of one Miss Kate Murtah, a comely brunette whose head is six feet from the ground and whose chin is dragging on the floor, figuratively speaking Katie, who appears big enough to take care of herself, has a Problem She looks like a singer. She sings like a singer (basso). But she s not, strictly speaking, a singer She s a comedienne, and she wishes somebody would let her prove it

It seems that Kate, who has been clowning for a living most of her life never had any trouble being accepted as a comic as long as she was part of an act called The Murtah Sisters

But Kate s troubles began when her two sisters retired from the night clubs and she went about establishing herself as a solo in the grim business of hilarity She blew her bankroll on a wardrobe of glamorous frocks a sheaf of special comedy material and a hatful of orchestrations Then she broke in her new act out of town — or tried to

She never got to do a lick of comedy The audience was largely male and the wolves therein took one look at her in her gown (a large portion of which was skin) and whistled There were shrieks for her to sing, coupled with several loud requests to Take It Off Looking as she did, the audience would accept her as nothing but a singer and she spent the evening trilling through ballads

* * *

Wiser and sadder, Kate bought herself a dress a little more chaste and revamped her program to start with a ballad and lead painlessly into comedy Now she's making her local stage debut as a "single" in the new vaudeville bill at the Palace

"I'm going to do mostly comedy" she declares fiercely, "and if anybody insists that I sing" — at this point her voice goes limp — "well, I guess I'll just have to sing"

Kate (who is unmarried and says she loves it) offers her case history as evidence that men still think of women as their inferiors They will eagerly accept a female of the species as a decorative singer but not as a practitioner of the more robust art of comedy

Any interested psychologists may apply to Miss M backstage Better still, let them apply to the Palace audience

HOROSCOPE

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, July 20

The prospect is excellent for the launching and development of projects of major significance upon which most cherished hopes and wishes may find rich fulfillment, if current events and conditions be wisely, logically, and promptly taken advantage of Seasoned judgment may prove more reliable than inner urges or personal bias Change position or employment may prove gainful But do not overplay the hand with funds, assets or friendship

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is have augury of splendid openings with support for inaugurating expansive and long - plans, in which there is prospect of concrete aid and advice from those in influential places There are signs of tangible assistance as well as enhanced prestige and popularity, although it would be possible to complicate affairs by over - playing in investments, speculation, or extravagance The spirit is over-generous and enthusiastic but should be regulated Change in locale or plans might prove desirable but take time to consider personal benefits

A child born on this day has large ideas bucked up by enthusiasm zeal and generosity, with definite promise of advancement, popularity and prestige, but it should use discretion in its purely personal relations.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
(Associated Press Food Editor.)

An easy way to cook a main course for a crowd is to grill hamburgers and frankfurters and to barbecue spareribs outdoors You can get around the cooking time for the spareribs by precooking them in the kitchen oven—then give them a crispy finish on a charcoal grill To do this, have 3 to 4 pounds of spareribs cut in serving size pieces Put them in a shallow pan, sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake them in a moderate (350 F) oven for an hour With this precooking, you can put the ribs on the outdoor grill and swab them with the following Barbecue Sauce during a last half hour s cooking on the grill

New Social Security Bill Foreseen

Committee Nears End Of Work

Hint Extension Of Coverage

WASHINGTON — (AP) — After many weeks of secret sessions, the House ways and means committee is about to produce a new social security bill. It may call for extending old age insurance to 12,000,000 more working persons.

Moreover, the legislation may provide for just about doubling in some categories the benefits paid to elderly persons.

The committee was reported also to have approved tentatively a tax schedule that in 15 years will treble the social security levies against employers' payrolls and employes pay.

Under present law the tax is set to jump from one per cent against the first $3,000, of an employe's pay to 1½ per cent on next January 1, and to 2 per cent on January 1, 1952. The new bill is expected to call for another increase to 2½ per cent in 1960 and 3 per cent in 1965.

There would be a similar boost in the employers' payroll taxes, to support the social security program.

The legislation, as tentatively drawn, would bring into the old age insurance program on a compulsory basis millions of self employed persons — small businessmen, doctors, lawyers, etc. — and also a large number of household employes, along with several smaller categories. But the committee has found not a satisfactory way to blanket some 7,000,000 farm operators and farm hands under the program, because of the great shifts in employment and the bookkeeping involved.

In the public assistance phase of social security, in which needy persons get financial relief although they have paid no security taxes, the committee may vote to create a new category for such relief.

This aid now goes to needy aged persons, the blind and to dependent children. The new bill is expected to make the relief available to some 200,000 persons who are totally and permanently disabled. It is not expected, however, to make such relief payments available to all needy persons, regardless of their ability to work, an extension President Truman has requested.

The bill, as it comes from the committee, will give the President a lot of what he wants, but not all. Mr. Truman said 20,000,000 additional workers should be added to the old age insurance program, including the farm operators and farm hands. The program already covers 30,000,000 workers.

Nail Last Of Escapers

AKRON — (INS) — Akron detectives yesterday captured Eddie Starcher, last of 14 escapees from the Moundsville, W. Va., state penitentiary.

Starcher surrendered to the detectives, led by Capt. John S. Struzenski, after they trapped him in a barn on the farm of Henry Eich near neighboring Medina.

Authorities were led to the farm by Kenneth Starcher, a brother of the escaped convict. The brother had notified police of Eddie's whereabouts after the escapee phoned and asked to be delivered some clothes and cigarettes.

The captive and 13 other prisoners escaped from the West Virginia prison June 14 by sawing their way through cell bars. The others were captured without resistence shortly after following an intensive manhunt by police of three states

Plans New Submarine

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Navy said Saturday it is planning a "completely new" type of propulsion for submarines. Work on it is abnormally hazardous and secret.

The Navy asked Congress for $2,000,000 to build an adequate test plant for the work at the naval engineering experiment station, Annapolis, Md.

Presumably, the experiments on "radical" new power plants for submarines could involve atomic power or fuels like hydrogen peroxide with which the Germans reportedly had some success.

The House armed services committee tentatively approved the $2,000,000 item for experimental submarine work. The committee also approved construction of new facilities to improve undersea craft detection.

Producer Says It Wasn't Fight To Finish

Claims Wife Just Threw Wad of Tissue

NEW YORK — (UP) — Producer Michael Todd today called a fight between his wife, Actress Joan Blondell, and a Princeton, N. J., summer theater producer "the battle of the Kleenex" and said he himself didn't get to hit anyone.

In Princeton Producer Harold J. Kennedy accused Miss Blondell of cursing out members of his cast and whacking him with a silver hand mirror.

He said he also intended to file assault and battery charges against Todd because of a dressing room free-for-all last week.

"Joan started to throw a wadded Kleenex at him and I told her not to." Todd said in his Broadway office. It would have knocked him down. If she threw it when my back was turned, I'm sorry. Kennedy couldn't take it.

"She positively did not hit him with a mirror. That would have been bad-luck."

Kennedy said Miss Blondell cursed out the cast.

Todd said "She might have said gosh or darnit" to Kennedy, but that her argument was entirely with the producer who wanted to release a member of the cast who had another engagement.

Miss Blondell had no comment, except to say she intended to continue her "straw hat circuit" tour next week at Lakewood, Pa.

Kennedy demanded that Actors Equity association suspend Miss Blondell from summer stocks. She closed in "Happy Birthday" at his theater Saturday night.

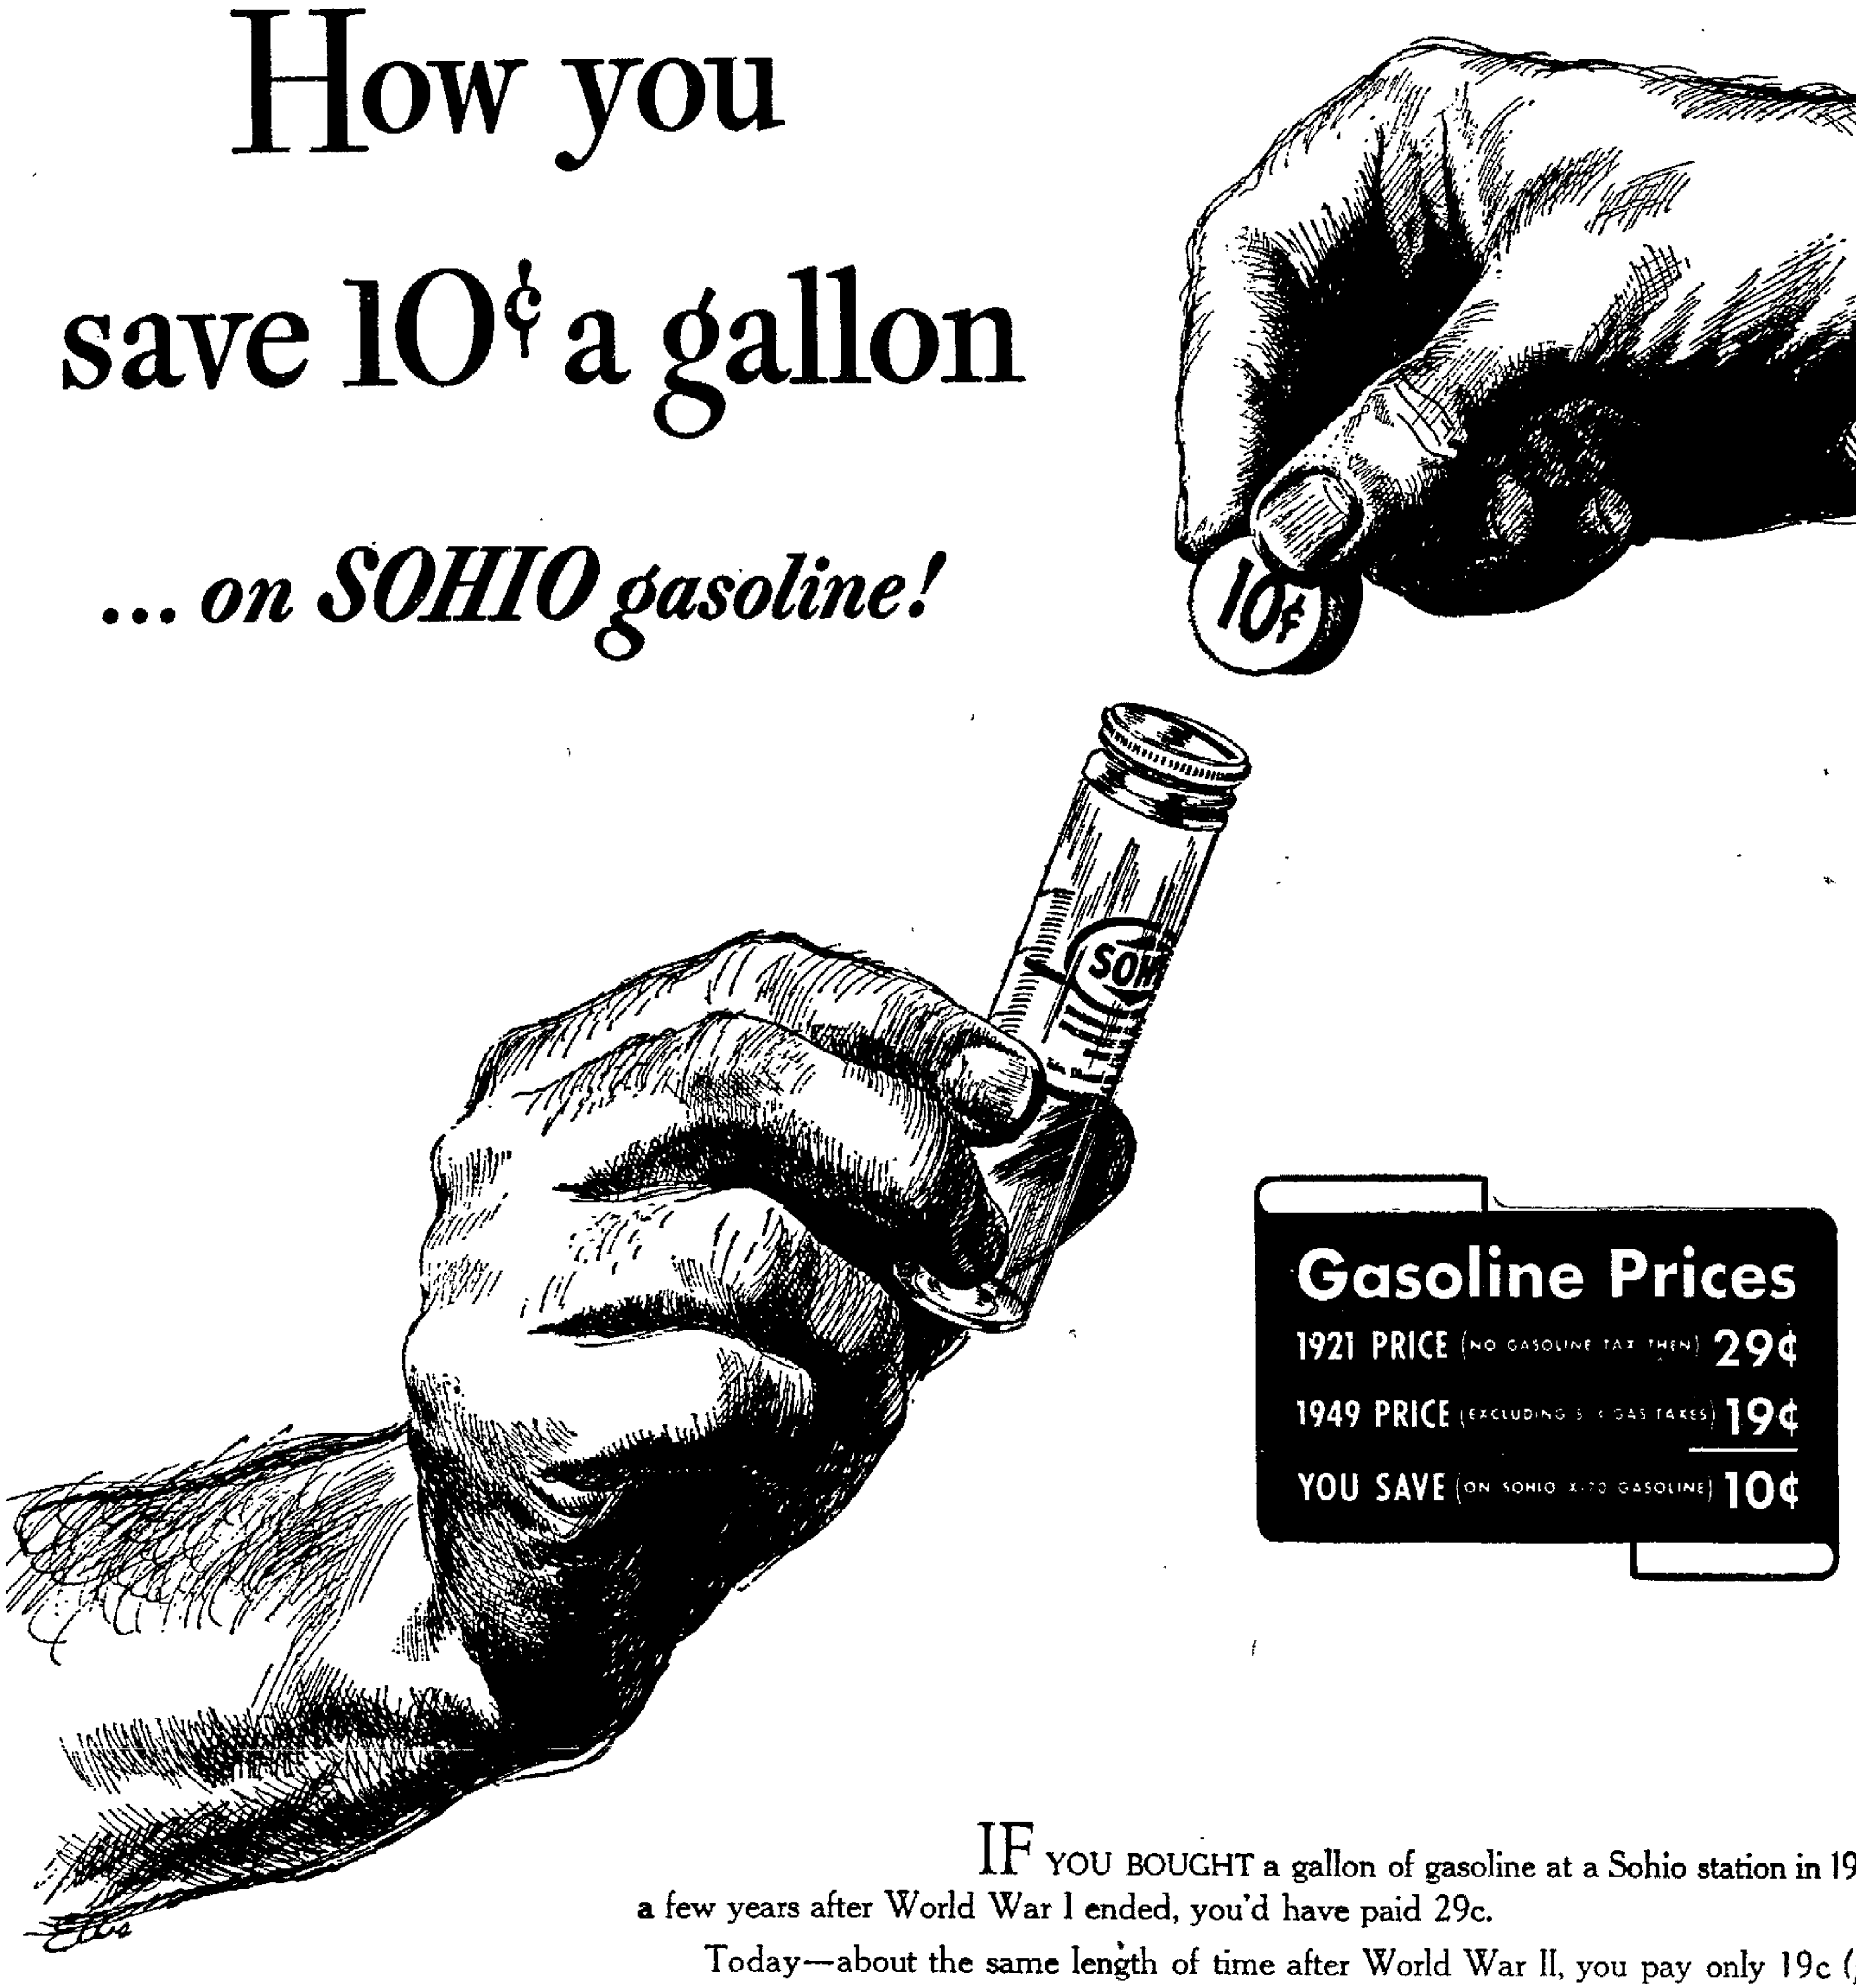
How you save 10¢ a gallon

... on SOHIO gasoline!



Gasoline Prices
1921 PRICE (NO GASOLINE TAX THEN) 29¢
1949 PRICE (EXCLUDING 5 ¢ GAS TAXES) 19¢
YOU SAVE (ON SOHIO X-70 GASOLINE) 10¢

IF YOU BOUGHT a gallon of gasoline at a Sohio station in 1921, a few years after World War I ended, you'd have paid 29c.

Today—about the same length of time after World War II, you pay only 19c (plus tax) at Sohio for X-70 gasoline—gasoline that's so vastly different and better that you'd hardly call that 1921 stuff "gasoline" at all. Fact is, your today's car would only sputter on the old-time gasoline.

This means, if you are an average car owner, that you are actually saving $60 a year on Sohio gasoline.

How come this saving?

Because our company, and companies like it, over the years put a large part of our earnings back into the business... finding new sources of oil, perfecting new methods of refining, setting up better methods of distribution to bring you petroleum products at less cost. Profits have thus actually been used to make oil and gasoline more plentiful and lower in price.

Last year this company employed more people at higher wages... paid more taxes than ever. But still the price of gasoline is 10c less! Profits today and in the future will bring benefits to America just as in the years past they built America.

Translation Heads New Book List

'Jean Barois' Story of Change

JEAN BAROIS, by Martin du Gard, is one of the new books for adults now available at the Mansfield Public Library. The author of this fiction selection won the Nobel prize in 1937 for his book, THE THIBAULTS'. JEAN BAROIS was written before that book but now is available for the first time in English. It is the story of a young man out-growing the beliefs of his parents and groping for new ones. The novel covers the period from 1880 to 1890 and, through its characters, conveys a sense of the inner turmoil of a whole generation in France.

BEHIND THE CURTAIN by John Gunther reports on what lies behind the curtain of fear with which Russia covers news of Eastern Europe. Gunther gives his observations on personalities, places and politics inside Yugoslavia, Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and in such centers as Vienna, Frankfurt, Trieste, Istanbul, Athens and Berlin.

WE OF THE AMERICAS by Carlos Davila is a plea for inter-American solidarity. The author, statesman and diplomat of Chile, his country's representative in UNRRA and on the Economic and Social Council of the United Nations, believes that, for its own preservation, the Western hemisphere must develop economic and military security on a regional basis. He favors a United Nations free of Big Power domination, and organized on a regional plan, with the New World integrated economically, politically and militarily from pole to pole.

WEDGWOOD by John Meredith Graham II and Hensleigh Cecil Wedgwood is a beautiful book, presenting a documented history of ten generations of a family whose name is outstanding in the English ceramic industry. In addition to the history of the Wedgwoods and their works, there is a list of the symbols and trademarks of all the Wedgwood factories, as well as a list of the factories and their locations, and of the artists and designers who made contributions to the Wedgwood tradition. The book is illustrated throughout with many fine photographs of Wedgwood pieces.

38 Clergymen Arrested As Reds Speed Church Fight

BERLIN — (INS) — Communist persecution of Catholic and Protestant church leaders was reported under way yesterday in the Soviet zone of Germany where 38 clergymen are said to be under arrest.

Disclosure of the reported anti-church action and the arrests coincided with a warning by Konrad Cardinal Von Preysing that East German Catholics faced "harder and more trying days ahead."

Even as the cardinal spoke, gangs headed by members of the communist — sponsored "Catholic Action" group disrupted Catholic services in Dresden and Jena in the Soviet occupation zone.

The hecklers shouted communist slogans, frequently interrupting the services which the priests managed to conclude although many worshippers had difficulty in hearing the proceedings over the noisy disturbances.

Cardinal Von Preysing spoke to 30.000 Berliners gathered in the Olympic stadium to celebrate Pope Pius XII's golden anniversary of his ordination as a priest.

The pope made a special broadcast from Vatican City in which he declared that governments which are "not built on a belief in God are predestined to decline."

Sources in East Germany said the arrests of the 21 Protestant ministers and 17 Catholic priests was carried out under Soviet orders in an intensification of the struggle between the church and state which has spread to almost every Soviet satellite country.

Army Pay Raise OK'd

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate armed services committee yesterday approved a pay raise for the uniformed services.

The vote was 9 to 1 to accept the bill already passed by the House. The Measure, estimated to cost $300,000,000 a year, would raise the pay of almost everybody in military uniform.

Individual boosts would range from three per cent for lower ranking enlisted men to 37 per cent of brigadier generals.

Although the committee endorsed the bill, Chairman Tydings (D-Md) said he doubts the bill will pass the Senate "unless savings to offset its increased costs result from other legislation now pending before Congress."

He was referring to the armed forces unification bill pending before the House.

Tydings and some other senators have taken the stand that military pay should not be raised unless savings are made in other costs of the armed forces. Backers of the unification bill contend it would permit savings of up to a billion dollars a year.
